

And I Looked Upon The Mountains

By Matthew Holtmeier

Christ is Unconditional Love

That Tells All

There are some within the all
There are all within the some
Realize this and you shall find nothing
Reject this and face nothing
It is not all within the sum of thoughts
It is the sum of all thoughts
That tells all

Greetings.

Again I have been compelled by Yahweh to write to my people. I have seen much evil in this world since last time I have written and I have learned many woes. This is not all I have seen however. I have seen one of my best friends come into Yahweh's hands. I have seen the happiness of new children and I have seen the disappearance of Fear. Please think upon these works that I give to you now.

Woes of Three

Once upon a windy night
I found Myself within a fight
Me, Myself and I looked upon
A mirror that was a lawn
In between the shifts of light
I saw Myself, a knight
I bore a cross upon My chest
I hid My feelings within My breast
The battle between Me, Myself and I
Began upon that lawn
I fought against My image
I fought into the coming dawn
And when dawn came I still fought on Every time I sought to flee
I turned and looked upon Me
I, Myself always seemed to walk alone
Always battling against My own
Even though I have three of Me
Spirit, Mind and Body
Which should win I could not tell
But I know this and nothing else
That if I loose one of the three
I shall lose all of Me
And so I found Myself within a truce
Only then could I be released
From My noose
For you see I battled only against Myself
And every time I turned to flee

Satan took apart of Me
In the darkness of night
Yahweh's love embraced me
I ceased to fight and to flee
And let Me, Myself, and I be...
One.

Know Thyself. Know Thy Laws.

Each man owns his own set of mountain ranges. Each of these mountain ranges harbors a part of himself. Throughout a man's life these mountain ranges are continually being broken down and risen up. Within my soul I know of the three highest mountains.

My first mountain is Love. This mountain was first shown to me by Christ. Seeing his Love for me I saw my Love for him, and he is the base of this mountain. For me this mountain started at my birth. For at my birth I knew the Love of a mother and the Love of a father. It erodes every time I do not give or receive Love. I am at the top of this mountain only when I can see all aspects and perceptions of Love and Love unconditionally

My second mountain is Wisdom. This mountain was shown to me by God, and through His laws I learned its' base. From the age of eleven I started building up this mountain. It grows when I use what knowledge I have already attained, and it erodes whenever I do something against my conscious and against my personal laws. I will obtain the summit of this mountain only when I learn all things about myself, soul, heart and body.

My third mountain is Faith. This mountain is my hardest to build and hardest to break down. It was first shown to me by the Holy Spirit. This mountain grew when I learned of God and when I found the Love of Christ. If this mountain shall fall all the others will. I will reach summit of this mountain only when I am strong enough to die and live by Faith.

These three mountains make me who I am. I have never reached the summit of these mountains. Only when I do will I be everything I can be. I will know Love unconditionally, know myself totally and live only upon my faith.

The Reasoning of Law and Discipline.

Being that I am not a fool I can see that I will never reach those peaks without the help of Yahweh. I am human and as I have said these peaks build up and erode, but these are not the only mountains. Yahweh sees everything around me, within me, before me, behind me, everything. He knows that while He tries to build peaks of Love, Wisdom and Faith within me, another tries to break them down, and build up the peaks of Pride, Lust, Prejudice and Hate. This is the reason that He has given me His laws. Many of them are those that He once gave to our ancestors.

The Ten Commandments

- Thou shalt have no other God but Me.

- Thou shalt make no pictures of gods, nor shalt thou pray to any god but me.
- Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord in vain.
- Remember to keep the Sabbath day.
- Honor your father and your mother.
- Thou shalt not kill.
- Thou shalt not commit adultery.
- Thou shalt not steal.
- Thou shalt not bear false witness against your neighbor.
- Thou shalt not desire anything that is thy neighbors.

Some of the laws God sent to me through his son Jesus.

You must be a servant to others as I have been a servant for you.
Love one another.

These are the virtues that everyone knows are possible in a good Christian man, but as I have related in my first letter I did not come to know God in the usual sense. Being raised among demons I came not as a man but as an empty and harden hearted boy. When I finally saw God other guidelines were set for me. I tell you these so that you will see the forgiveness of Yahweh as well as His justice. I also tell them to you so that you can correct me when I drift from them. He wrote to me in a vision.

I am who am and you shalt call me Yahweh. I am your God and you shall have no other. I now raise you up and take you from the Evil one so that you can lead my people from him as I have led you from his grasp. You shall not discriminate among men nor shall you ever think that you are better than them, for these are evil actions. You shall follow the ways of my son and bow to Him as your judge. Forgive those that know not your way but teach them and do not despair for I am with you and I shalt lead you to no harm.

When I forgot these words he sent to me another vision and within it he stated.

"I call to you now. Take up this symbol so that your purpose will not be forgotten again. You shall lead my people out of darkness as I have led you. Bring together my Church for it has separated. Repent and you shall be forgiven. Do not forget again."

Even the Evil one has given me some guidance although at one time they were reversed. I tell you these so that you can fight his power.

- If you Love someone and choose not to show that Love, you give the Evil
- one power over your soul.
- Whenever you love with conditions, you give the Evil one power.
- Whenever you speak and do not listen, you give the Evil one power.

- If you see a wrong and do not try to right that wrong, you give the Evil one power.
- Whenever you stop teaching the young about good and evil, you give the Evil one power over your children.
- If you do not share your talents that Yahweh has given, you give the Evil one power.
- Whenever you are intolerant of another, you give the Evil one power over your soul.
- Whenever you give into your lust, you give the Evil one power over your body.
- If you judge without wisdom, you give the Evil one power over your decisions.
- When you sin and do not repent, you give the Evil one power over you.
- When you give a material object more importance in your life than you give your fellow man, you give the Evil one power.
- Whenever you do not face your fears, you give the Evil one power over you.
- Whenever you do not heed God, you give the Evil one power over you.
- Whenever you cease to listen to your conscious, you give the Evil one power over your actions.

A man living out of society cannot do any good within it. My people you have also showed me Yahweh and Christ within your action. I see His love within you, His mercy, His generosity. I, however, have also seen the works of the one that held me within his grasp. I see within you hate, prejudice, greed, pride, uncleanness of spirit and saddest of all, no hope. Seeing the good and the bad you have shown me the need for me to add rules into my being, so that I will not sin against the ones already sent down upon me.

- I will never become so attached to a material possession so that I can rule with it or be ruled by it.
- I shall love all because we come from the same source and be saddened for those that turn away from that source.
- I will talk first and run second, only on the last resort will I fight.
- I will not harm one that slanders against me, nor heed anything that comes from a false person's mouth.
- I will defend those that I am able to and if need be die for them.

These are just a few of my guidelines, for like the mountains they are ever changing but they are based upon the rules Yahweh has given to me. You have taught me much and because I Love you I will try to share some wisdom I have learned. This wisdom may not fit into your own theological outlooks and it may seem too different for you to except. All I ask is that you listen so that one day I can listen to you.

Of A Priest And A Warrior

Once upon a windless night
I saw myself all dressed in white

And within my hand I held such might
As to give the blind their sight
And within the wind filled dawn
After that peaceful night
I looked upon myself again
And saw that I was a knight
And within my hand I held the might
To make the wrong see the right
And of the two I cannot choose between
For one cannot always tell
If he will send one toward Heaven
Or if he will send one toward Hell.

The Path Of Choice

Yahweh
Unconditional Love
Faith
Wisdom
Tolerance
Fear
Prejudice
Intolerance
Selfishness
Unconditional Hate
The Dark One

An Explanation

If one knows Tolerance than he may gain Wisdom. If one gains Wisdom then he will build Faith. If one has Faith he will have give Unconditional Love. If a man can give Unconditional Love he will know Yahweh. If a man cannot put aside Fear he will judge with Prejudice. If a man judges by Prejudice he learns Intolerance. If a man learns Intolerance he practices Selfishness. If a man is Selfish he Unconditionally Hates. And a man that Unconditionally Hates is under the grasp of the Dark One.

The Leap

Throughout life one follows his or her own Path. This Path's end is only known by Yahweh, for it is the Path of life. This Path consists of many things and only he whom treads the Path will see where his foot must fall. However, one thing is always certain about the Path, at least once within the Path of life one comes to a place where the Path stops, and enters a gap or rather chasm. In order for one to continue upon the Path he must call upon his Faith to guide him in the darkness where there is no path. One cannot use anything other than Faith. Sight, Smell, Touch and all other senses are of no use, one can only call upon Faith. Only when one's foot falls upon the ground beyond the chasm will one recover the Path. Many of these chasms include Marriage, Worship, Love, Forgivers, and Fighting the Darkness. All these things and many more chasms require Faith.

Looking Before One Leaps

My people it is highly important to remember that many things within the Path of Life can be planned and this is wise. But be wary of one chasm, the chasm before Heaven and Hell. Never try to plan for this. This is not to say that one should not do good. Do not do good so that you may go to Heaven, for this within itself is nothing but selfishness. For when the chasm comes and your Faith is judged you may find yourself descending.

An Example One's Life Path

----Heaven
>-----Worship, Love, Marriage, Forgiveness, Fighting the Darkness--- Chasm
----Hell

My Struggle to Bare My Cross.

Listen oh, my people to my woes. For you see I must give up a part of my being. The part is my most inhuman aspect. My selfishness. Some call me a prophet, some call me a great young man. I am none of these, I was a lost soul and still I struggle to be found. The first letter I wrote to you my people was a letter of great praise to Yahweh for saving me from the dark one. The second was a letter to you from the Holy Ghost that I felt for the first time stir within me. And this letter is a letter to you. A letter of hope and of pain.

When I first began the quest that Yahweh has given to me I thought foolishly that I would also be able to become what I wished for myself. Perhaps if I had never known Yahweh I could become what I wished, but now I know His will and must struggle to take up my own cross. This cross I must bear for I have made it myself. It is the cross of my dark side. Please understand that I did not come to Yahweh as a man, but as a frightened and harden hearted boy. I had many dreams of becoming famous or having much money but all of these things seem empty to me now. And perhaps too easy to achieve. For when one is under Satan he can gain everything...but unconditional Love. I thought that all I saw of the world was right; morally and lawfully. However, because I struggled against Yahweh he sent against me the worst weapon against the dark thing that I was. He sent the truth, of myself and my people. I now can see how I hath hurt others and I also see that if I do not spend my life trying to put right all that I see wrong I will continually suffer. Something inside of me has snapped. I once did not feel the hate of others around me but know it throbs with its own dark emptiness. I can now see the hate within our world but I grieve most for the lack of Love for those within it.

Once someone asked me to define Christ and I thought long and hard, but because I saw him as a mere man I could not find the answer. Once someone asked me to define Yahweh and because I knew Him I did not have a definition. But you see I had the answers all along but I did not see it. Until I asked Yahweh what could stop my pain. He said to me

"I call to you now. Take up this symbol so that your purpose will not be forgotten again. You shall lead my people out of darkness as I have led you. Bring together my Church for it has separated. Repent and you shall be forgiven. Do not forget again."

I prayed many long nights to find the answer within this command and once I learned that I could not Define Christ nor could I ever understand the mystery of the Holy Trinity did I learn the answer. The answer is Christ is the unconditional love that Yahweh has for us. He brought to us one weapon that the dark one can never over come. Unconditional love. Here I must define my words so that you might understand. Stand strong my people for once my reality was shaken by a creature once only believe of in dreams. But Yahweh has done more to me. He has destroyed Satan's illusion of reality. Satan has take what of good and has made it evil and what is evil now seems good. And now I cry for my people in this land of Dark Death. Come back to Him my people I pray you!

Those of the Light.

And Yahweh said to me these are of the light.

All those that Love without Bonds.

All those that would die themselves to save another.

Those two things make a person of Light, of Yahweh, nothing more. Do you not see my people all that Yahweh asks is Unconditional love? So little to give but so hard to achieve. My people I was once like the vast majority of you. Passive to my brothers and sisters killed in their womb. Passive to my elders that were murdered while they slept. Passive when one of my brothers was killed one the street. Passive while the children of Yahweh turned and walked into the dark. Passive when priests threw me out of the churches for asking questions. Passive when people hated each other. Passive Passive Passive. NO MORE! I shalt not remain passive anymore. I will Love Unconditionally. Love Uncontrollably. Forgive unrelentingly. Something within me cries that we are doomed...doomed. That is the darkness of fear. Rid me of it. Rid me of the Hate for I can feel it. My people listen to all the woes around you; can you not feel it? Do you not feel the Dark ones grasp upon your heart? Can you not feel its grasp upon your mind? Stop fighting amongst yourselves. Start fighting against what makes us inhuman. In order to do this you must Love Unconditionally and in order to achieve that feat you must know thyself and know thy own Laws. Please my people take that leap!

On Others.

Once one is strong enough within ones own faith it is safe to venture out amongst those whose faiths differ. On this journey one will see many different types of Faith. I have seen and spoken with those of many faiths including those of the Jews, Mormons Baptist, Roman Catholics, Taoists, Moravians and Wiccans. I cannot say that you shall see everything that I have seen nor can I say that I have seen all that you will see. Please keep in mind that there are many ways to worship Yahweh. Of course He may not always be called Yahweh this is only how I call Him. Others have called Him by Jehovah, The Ancient of Days, The Great Spirit, God, some have even called Him Goddess.

Know thyself well and when asked about your own faith be free with it. However do not judge others by your own faith. Say to the one you are conversing with this is who I am and this is what I believe. Stop there. Do not say this is who I am and this is what I believe and because you believe differently you are doomed. Never call yourself "saved" because in doing so you may gain too much pride and the dark one can then work his will through you. Look upon it within this tale.

Once there was a man of the city. He had read much about the country life and longed to walk within the forests. However, there was one thing that this man could never bring himself to believe and that was that sometimes trees within the forest fall. No matter how many people said this was true nor however many times he read about it, he would not believe it. Finally, one day he got a chance to camp within the woods of his longing. When he was walking within the woods he saw a tree fall. Now this man had two choices. One, he could except that he saw a tree fall and go one with his walk or sit there and try to deny what he saw. His pride made the choice easy for him. He did not have to admit to himself that the tree had fallen because he could ignore that it did. Soon he left the woods and entered the city. Later, a person came to him and asked if he believed that trees fell. He chose to live within foolishness and said that he knew trees never fell in the forest.

Do not follow the path of this pitiful man. Accept the fact that there are many ways to God, you shall see them in the big forest called the world. Do not have so much Pride and arrogance as to say they do not exist.

All Within Ones Hands

I alone within the night
That's when I first came to see the light
I saw Him within my grief
I saw Him though I lacked the belief
And upon His hand I saw my wounds
I saw my pain upon His face
Yet as I fought to break free of the torture
He bore it with such grace
And that night I still did not see
That He had died for Me

Love

I see you my people and I grieve to see what the dark one has done within your hearts. He has taken Love and has tarnished it. I realize that you might not see Love in the same aspect as I do so I shall say that once long ago a person stated that "Love was blind" but I say this is not true. Love is not "blind" it is the people in Love that choose not to see. My people look upon love as a blessing not as a curse.

A Prayer For Realization Of Love

Holy Mother where is my Brother?
He is seated at the right hand of the Father.
Holy Mother pray for me, that I might find Love.
Seek your Brother for Love is near.
Holy Father, O God, where is my brother?
He is here at my right hand.
Holy Lord, O God, pray for me, that I might know Love
Find your Brother and you will now it.
Holy Brother, where are you?
I am here within you.
Holy Brother pray for me that I might give Love.
The greatest gift of Love dwells within you.

A Writing On Love

Upon what thing should we base our lives? What in its absence, is breaking up our families? What does our culture need most? Do you know? What will save our people from utter destruction? We cannot take it into our hands. We cannot buy it nor can we steal it. We cannot push it onto one another. This thing is love. "Love is patient, love is kind, love is not pompous, it is not inflated, it is not rude, it does not seek its own interests, it is not quick tempered, it does not brood over injury, it does not rejoice over wrong doing but rejoices with truth. It bears all things, it believes all things, it hopes all things, endures all things," (1 Cor. 13:4-7).

Love should be the basis of our lives. At our births our mothers nurture us with love. As babies that was enough, just to be loved. As we grow older, our parents teach us the difference between good and evil, love and hate. We learn to love others unconditionally. Alas, this is how it should be, but it is not like this for all. Some of us learn to hate and be cruel from our parents.

We learn many things from our parents. We learn our definition of family. We learn to love our brothers and sisters. We learn from our fathers, that to get a good job requires education. We learn from our mother that we have the right to strive toward our dreams no matter who we are. Alas, this is how it should be, but it is not like this for all. Sometimes we never learn about love. Sometimes we learn from our fathers that the only way to solve problems is to fight. Sometimes we learn from our mothers that the only way to get ahead is to sell our bodies. Either way we learn through our families how to interact with the outside world.

As we become more involved with our culture, we learn that love, justice, freedom and friendship are to be highly valued. We learn that our jobs don't have to be boring or stressful. We learn to take quite walks in the woods. We learn that we have a say in this world around us. We learn not to judge others by their looks but by their wisdom. Alas, this is how it should be, but it is not this way for all.

Sometimes as we walk the paths of life we learn to hate those that are not like us. We learn the pain of this world, the loss of a loved one. The darkness of others deeds. The hopelessness on the streets. We learn to fight instead of discuss. We began to judge others by what they give us and we try to buy their love. We value material objects more then other people. Soon, we lose the ability to love others unconditionally. We break the bonds that once were so strong.

The only thing that can mend those broken bonds is love. In our growth we must learn to keep our unconditional love. A God fearing person once put it this way, "If I speak in human and angelic tongues but do not have love I am nothing, I am a resounding gong or a clashing cymbal. And if I have the gift of prophecy and comprehend all mysteries and all knowledge; if I have all the faith so as to move mountains but do not have love I am nothing. If I give away everything I own, and if I hand my body over so that I may boast but do not have love, I gain nothing," (1 Cor. 13:1-3).

We must do as he says. We must learn to keep our unconditional love for each other. We must learn that love is the only thing that can save ourselves, our families, and our culture.

A Writing On Peace And Tolerance.

Peace is in the eye of the beholder. Peace depends upon how you view things. Some see the world through the eyes of hatred, and some view the world through eyes of love. Therefore, the only thing that can promote peace is how we view one another and how we react to our visions.

Look around, millions of differences within a single glance. Birds of every color glide in an ever changing sky and many other species walk upon the land. Some leaves change their hue with each passing season and some do not. Is this not how it should be? Try to envision a world of vague colors and shapes. This world would be a flat and stagnant place.

Why then do humans wish for lack of variety? Is the reason that they do not enjoy difference or change? No, the reason is they fear what is different. This fear comes from a lack of knowledge of new things. Humans have two choices when they encounter something that is new to them; learn of it or run from it. The wise learn of the difference, the fools run from it. Can she who studies geometry know the exact shape of an object based on only one element? Can she tell the difference between a square and a rectangle if she is only told that the object has four sides? No. However, if she has the knowledge that the object has four sides and all of them are equal then she knows that the object is a square and not a rectangle. As she learns about the object it becomes less confusing. The object is no longer clouded by her prejudices.

Choose to learn from a thing that is different from oneself, for this is wise. To judge a man after gaining knowledge of him is wise. Making an assumption can lead to misfortune. If a man sees an angel, can he then deny its existence? To choose to accept that which one thought to be non-existent is wise, for in this there is change and with this Change comes versatility and the world learns of a new type of beauty. Does not even the simplest of creatures know this? Do not worms learn from differences in the moisture of the soil and what the differences entail? Why then do not the more advanced species learn this simple lesson?

Humans who choose to flee often do much more than flee. For some it is not enough just to be away from that which is different, but they try to eliminate that which is different. They have many ways to accomplish this, murder, war, or xenocide, but the worst is most often the simplest, discrimination.

Discrimination is defined as an act based upon prejudice. This prejudice comes from lack of knowledge, which in turn breeds fear. When one discriminates, he makes a clear distinction between himself and another person. To make a clear distinction within itself is not unwise, but to discriminate against something strictly upon one difference is foolhardy. This discrimination, whether it is based upon race, culture, creed, sex, or any other difference causes hatred and mistrust.

Which to choose? Humans have a problem answering this question. Within their vast cultures, the seeds of unwise discrimination are planted. Within their homes, schools, and businesses this seed is sown into the people. The wise ones among the cultures see this, but a few against the many are poor odds. Poorer still are those who choose to say that discrimination is a natural thing. Does a blue bird say to the cardinal that it is not a bird because it is not blue? No. How then can one human say to another that he is not human because he is of a different color?

Look around. In a single glance there are a thousand differences. In a world of light there are a thousand colors. In a world of darkness there is only one. To be wise, One must choose to see the many colors. The fool hides his head from light and emerges into the darkness. So choose to be as the wise and learn of that which is different.

This choice brings peace of mind because a man no longer lacks the wisdom to see from another's viewpoint. With this peace of mind he can then sew the thread of peace among the peoples of the world.

Once Upon A Time Before

Once upon a time before
God took naught and made it more.
And in doing so brought all the things
We take so granted.

In the darkness He created a world of light.
In doing so He imprisoned Night.
And so His enemy made
And for this all have paid.

Upon many He placed the task.
To make a world that would last.
And on this world He placed those before.
This we now as we look outside our door

His will did reign until the darkness came,
It shook those that came before
Even one from high could not ignore
The rasping of its heed.

The rasping of its heed

Once there was a young man whom asked a great sage the reason for suffering. The sage told the little boy this "The reason for suffering is so that we may know happiness." The boy than went on a walk and thought to himself. Later he again went to the great sage and asked, "If we suffer and because we suffer we know happiness, then do we not hate so that we may know love?" The sage sat and for a few moments was silent "Then he turned to the young boy and replied" You have a good thought, but it is faulted one can know love but without hating." The boy again went for a walk and soon returned to the sage's side. Wide eyed he spoke saying "I see that this is true, but then if a man knows suffering so that he knows pleasure and a man can love without hate. That would also mean that a man knows both suffering and pleasure and love, but if a man knows hate he is not a man. " The sage smiled and laughed. He then replied, "That is correct." Again the boy tugged on the sages sleeve asking, "If a man that hates is not a man what is he?" The sage only replied, "A demon."

Those Things Are Destroying Humanity

Loss of Faith in Yahweh. The replacing of Moral law with Civil Law. The loss of Love for Life. The fear of love. The teaching that only violence can counter violence.

For Every Man Without A Home

Without a home one must always roam
No walls to hide his weep or moan
He must always rise and wake alone
Oh, How I pity every man without a home.

A Question. An Answer.

Once a friend of mine asked me for a question that only Yahweh could answer. I sat and thought for a while until I came up with one that no human can answer. This is what I told him.

Once there were two men. The first man was very high within his church. He did all of the charitable actions any man in his position would do. He worshipped and gave to the poor. The people around him called him a good man. However, inside he was quite a different man. His heart was black with lust for power. He did not wish to do charitable actions. He loved no man above himself. He only did things of goodness because they gave him power, hence the goodness others saw was flawed. The other man was a soiled man. He was known to accompany the women inside the brothels. He stole from people and he did not worship. The people around him called him scum and said he was not even fit enough to walk within the gutters alongside the streets. Yet in his heart he wished to be quite different. He often tried to do good but things never worked out that way. He did not wish to steal but he was lame so he could not get a job and he felt he had no other choice. He went with the women to the brothels because only there did he feel a little loved.

After telling this story I turned to my friend and asked him who among these two men were less guilty of sin. My friend looked at me and said, "The man with all the good actions is the less sinful of the two because he thought of dark things but did not really do them."

I responded with another story.

Once there was a young women that was caught stealing from a market. She was caught and put to death. For that was the law of the city.

Then I asked him if she was guilty of a sin. He responded, " Yes she was guilty of sin because she stole and the penalty for that was death." Then I added that she stole only because her husband could no longer work and her children were starving. " Is she still sinful?" I asked. This baffled him for a long time. Finally he spoke saying, " These are fine stories but how are they a question only God can answer?" I replied to him, " A man has actions that he must face the consequences of, but a man also has reasons behind his actions. The priest did good deeds but only because they gave him power. The soiled man did wrong but only because that was the best he could do. The woman stole but only to save her family from starvation. I cannot always see the reason for a persons actions and I cannot always blame a persons actions if they are done for the right reasons. Nor can any other man. That is why the ultimate answer to whether a man is guilty of sin can only be answered by God."

A Gift Of Thanks In Exchange For Your Love

(Dedicated to Brighteyes)

For thou art of the Light.
For thou reminds me of my Fight.
For thou whispers with silent Plight.
For thou wishes wrong made Right.
For thou knows I also have the Sight.
For thou also sees the Darkness of the Night.

A plea for those that fear me.

I hath moved between the beginning of this letter and the end of it. I am now taking the Leap. It is much harder than I hath ever imagined and yet much more pleasurable. I would like now to define some of my key terms so that perhaps when others outside of my church read them they will gain a more proper view. First, on myself please do not fear me unless you fear love. Do not ask of me a definition of Yahweh for although I know Him and fell His love I cannot nor will I ever be able to define Him. I wish those around me to know that I cannot summon dead nor heal the sick. I am not a demi god nor a religious leader. Do not take me for such, do not expect me to not make mistakes. Do not expect me to always act without sin. Hold me accountable for my acts but remember I am only human. I do not wish to be greater, for in the long run all the fault and wisdom others sees in me are only reflections of nothingness. For I can only know the truth that I view and then only half the understanding of what I see.

My People

Now with those that have read all three of my letters I send to you an answer to one of your many questions. I have never come directly out and said who my people are. I know the people of Yahweh and it is about time we put away the lies of the Dark. Many people, many paths, many cultures, many faiths... One God. My people are all those that fight the Darkness. I am Catholic and always shall be. I believe in the Trinity but I am not arrogant enough to see that not all my brothers are like me. Some call my Love for others outside my church a curse. I call it a blessing. I can see that Yahweh works in many wonderful ways. I do not only call other Christians my brothers I also call all Jews my brothers. I call all Taoists my brothers, I call all Moravians my brothers all Jehovah Witness's my brothers. I also call all those that have no Faith but still fight against the Dark my brothers. Even those that are called Pagans I call my brothers. This is my view. Many churches of many but only one church of Yahweh. My People some may not understand what I say and many shall hate me for it. So be it. This is my ministry as Christ came to save those from The Dark ones grasp and win a great war against Satan, I am here to give my people peace of mind in knowing that the only darkness that remains is that which we see in others whom we do not understand and the only power that the Darkness has is what we choose to give it.

A leaving

Thank you for listening to the works of this young man. I hope that I have stirred the blessing that Yahweh has placed within us all. This shall be my last letter to my people for quite some time. My first letter "To My People For My People" was written so that you might know that Yahweh has rescued me and that book is dedicated to Him. The second letter "A Few Questions" was written when the Holy Spirit was within me and this letter's Poetry is given to all that wish for something more. This letter is dedicated to Christ for I came to know Him last of all. I hope that you can see how His love shines for all people regardless of race, creed, culture, and sex. Farewell for now. God Bless.
